

It's OK, they're fake legs!

THERE were plenty of laughs yesterday as hundreds of motorists went on a Mini adventure.

These drivers, who stuck fake legs out the bonnet of their car, were among hordes who took part in the 23rd annual London to Brighton Mini Run.

About 2,000 sparkling Minis, of all ages and models, ended up on Madeira Drive, which was closed for the day.

Organisers, London and Surrey Mini Owners Club, said: "It was a fantastic day, helped out by some super weather. Everyone had a lot of fun."

Drivers set off from Crystal Palace, south London, about 8.30am and began arriving in Brighton from 11am.

Judges picked out the best Minis.

PICTURE: TERRY APPLIN

TA18508C-3

999 CALL? A Mini enthusiast appears to be in severe difficulties in Madeira Drive. Fortunately the emergency services weren't needed